

MIRANDA FINDS A HOME

(Actually She Chose Her “Master”)

by Mayumi Takadanobaba

Oh Boy the Old Folks Thought

I need a Dog to Protect my Stuff

Miranda gets ordered for her pedigree

She is the prettiest pup they'd ever seen.

It was quick and she did not know

The Trainer took Miranda Home

And the old folks seemed so satisfied

In just a month this powerful Dog will be ours

Oh Boy!!!

The Training Was Fun!

Miranda Learned to Sit and caught on real quick

The Trainer Beamed

Miranda was the most wonderful dog he'd ever seen

Soon just a month passed and the trainer needed more

He called the owner and said I will keep her a little more

Oh the other dogs could not believe

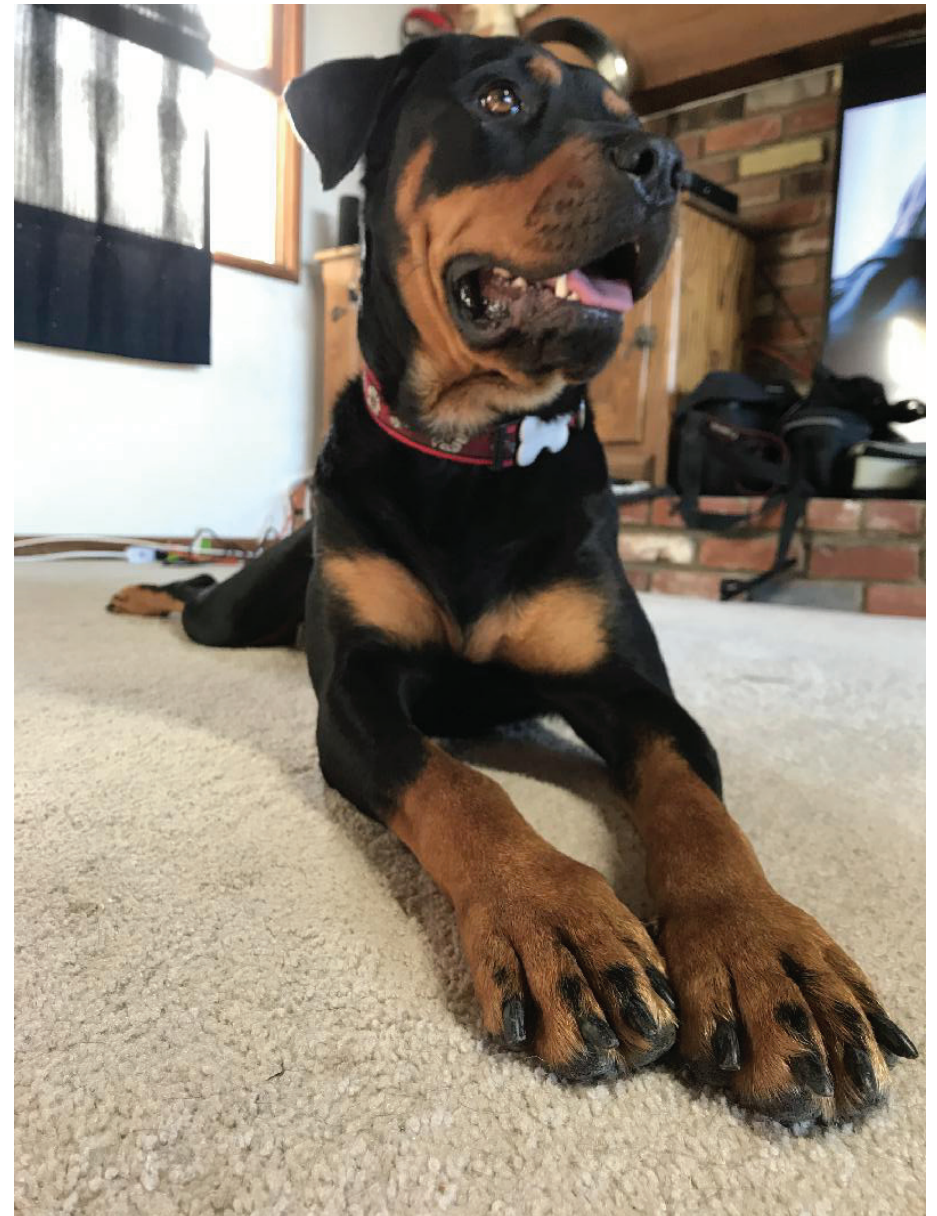

Miranda was staying

All jumped for glee

Ooops the Trainer Found out

Miranda got a boyfriend and worked some new pups out.

In a panic because time to grow was past due

The Trainer called again and told the old folks

The day for Mirada to leave

Made the Trainer so sad

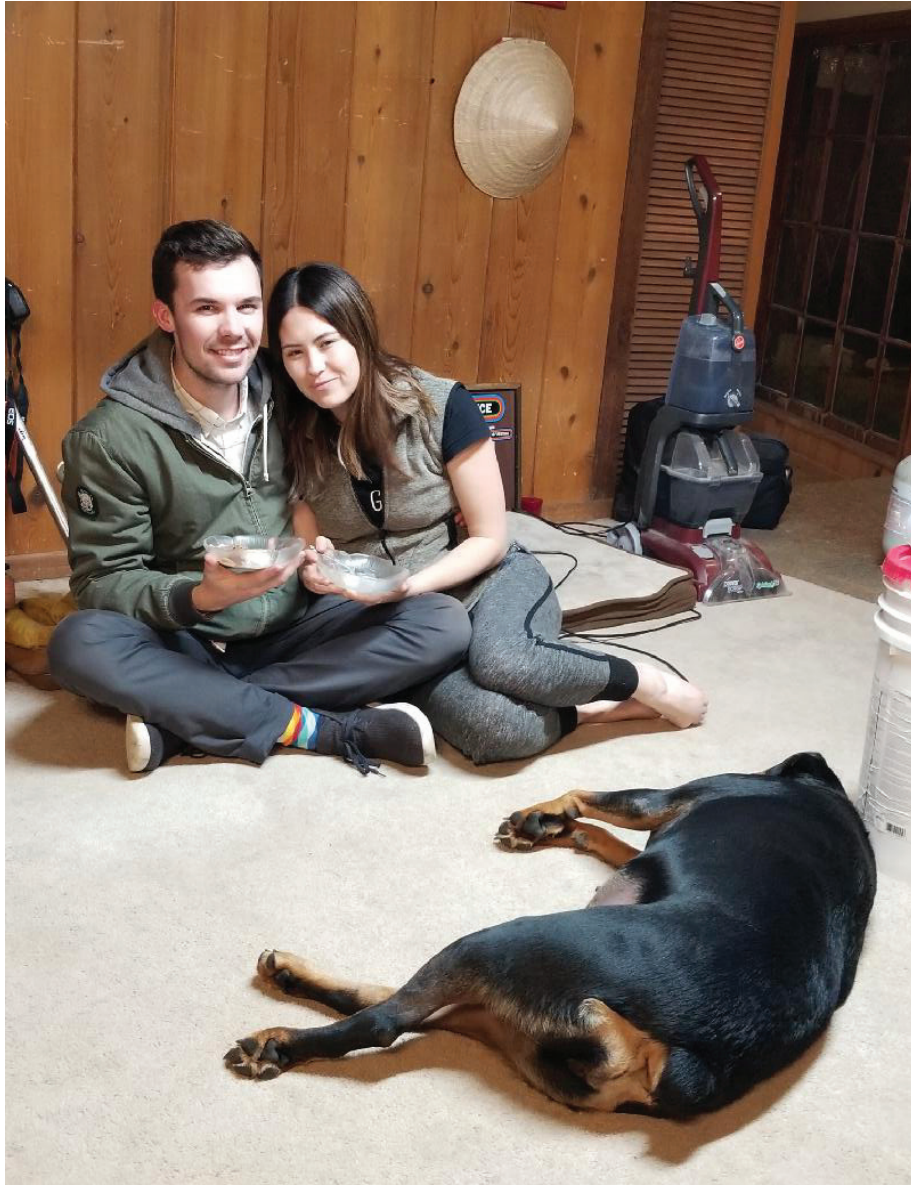

But six perfect puppies

Hid in the back

The Old Folks Came to get Miranda So much excitement was had Miranda was so beautiful and The Trainer did a good job!

Soon Miranda was home in Rancho Palos Verdes

A acre of fenced land and rat sized dog to chase

Round and Round Miranda would run

Outside and inside no matter to her The old folks were consumed with what to do.

Soon it was clear

Miranda could jump so high

The fence of the compound

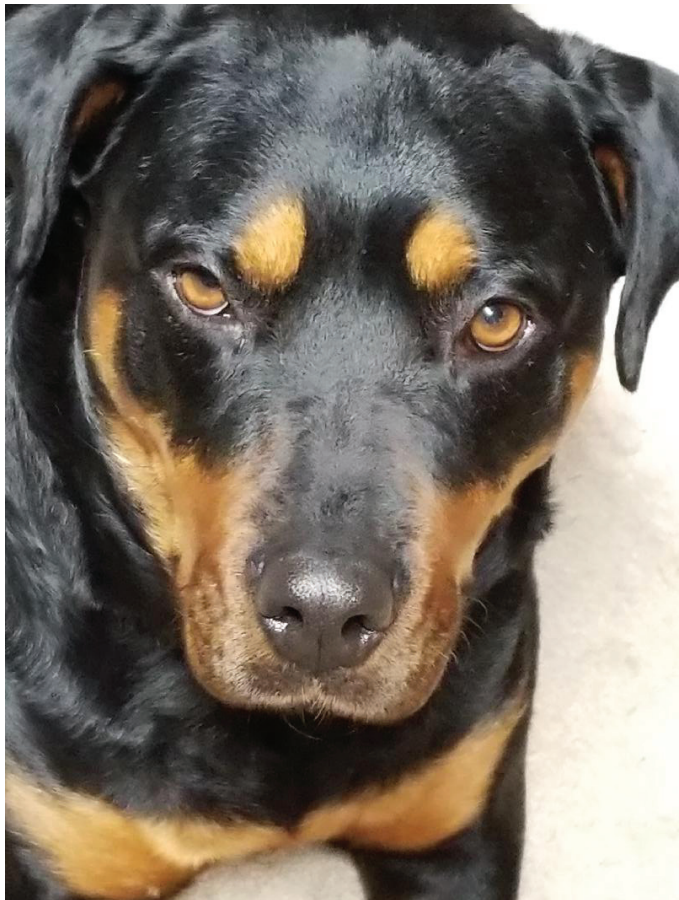

Is frequently breached

One night the phone rang late

THIS IS THE DOG COPS AND WE GOT MIRANDA

As standard has the game in the clink They cut her up and removed her reproductive sink

Day after Day the owner did not come

Miranda would cry and not understand why

As her time was almost up

The old folks took her home

The little guy was happy to see Miranda again

Soon smiles and loves were shared

Miranda forget to be mad

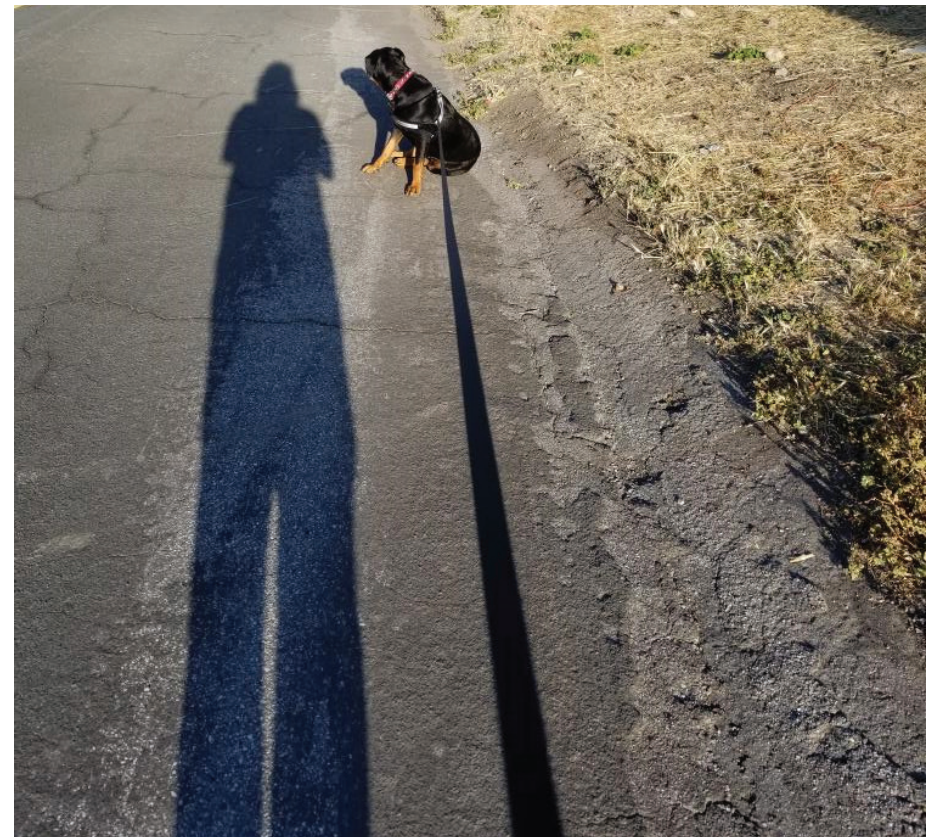

The Second Time though

The old owner still did not know

That leaving Miranda in the pound

No lesson was found.

That #Q^%Q$@* Old Man
left her again!

left her in prison again

Again Miranda did not understand why

But, in the cage nextdoor was a dog called “Guy”.

He told Miranda to escape again and chose a new “owner”.

Guy made the instructions clear

Find a yard with smiling people

Laugh and dance with them to see if it is true

And then test them for parenting skills

Hey Dad, Mom screamed outloud

There is a dog on our lawn

I look from the couch and Miranda was dancing before me

Wow, so beautiful a dog but no collar in site

Soon Miranda decided to leave

Her new daddy followed to make sure she's safe

Miranda looked up and smiled

She knew she had found a new love

A home to escape that hell above

Dad grabbed her strong and drove to the dog doctor

With apprehension and soon relief

We found out Miranda had a chip

We told the doc our contact data

The Doc left a message and said we can keep Miranda here.

Miranda's new papa said no way Today this child of love will stay with me

You tell that dumb owner to call me

A smile was had by everyone around

Soon the call came and

The apprehension returned again

He told of Dog Jail to teach the pup

And then said ...

she is just much for us

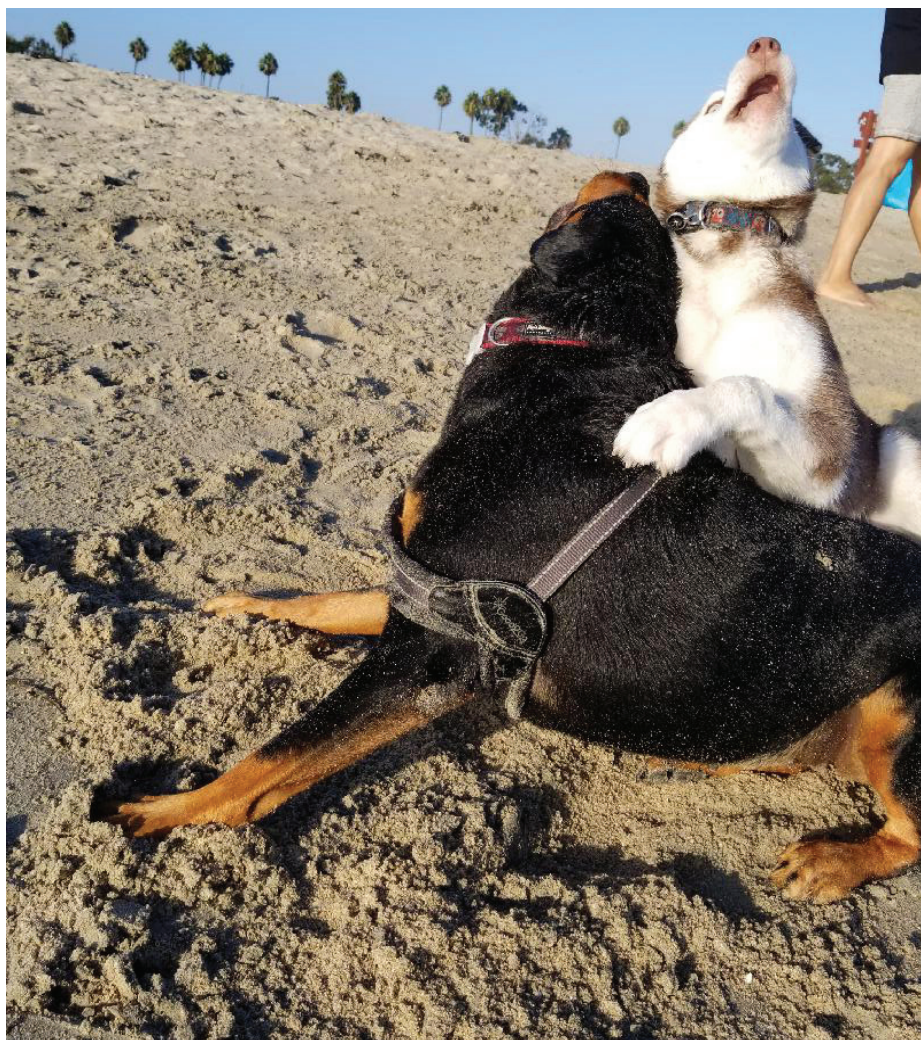

Miranda's New Home was Found

Now the Hijinx begin

With smiles and laughter all around

Chosen with wisdom the dog knows

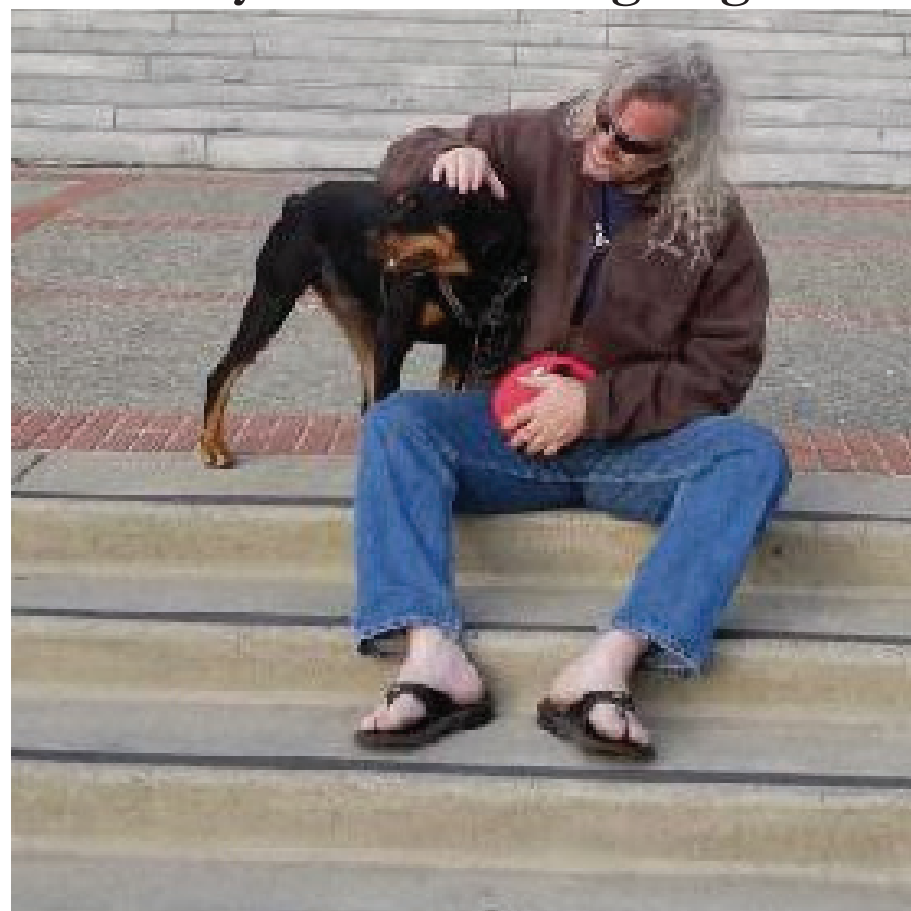

I am allowed to cry

As I feel this Dog chose me, not the old man

The love she gives is felt so strong

Except for our cats, they moved to the garage

We go to the Vet to find out more

Turns out she was pregnant before

Someday I hope to meet her pups

They must be just spectacular!

We got the paperwork ready

And brought to the old man

I told of the puppies and such

The old man said, “What she had puppies? Oh wow. hmmm. uh I guess she did stay at the trainers a lot longer than we thought.

Incredulous

Insane

I signed the papers and left as quick as I can

Finally secure in her new home

Miranda takes over the management of the day

All circles around her now

As we replace our grown kids

Coyotes are heard in the night

Miranda and Dad Join the fight

We yell, scream and bark in time

Pretending we are so strong

As long as the Coyotes are not near

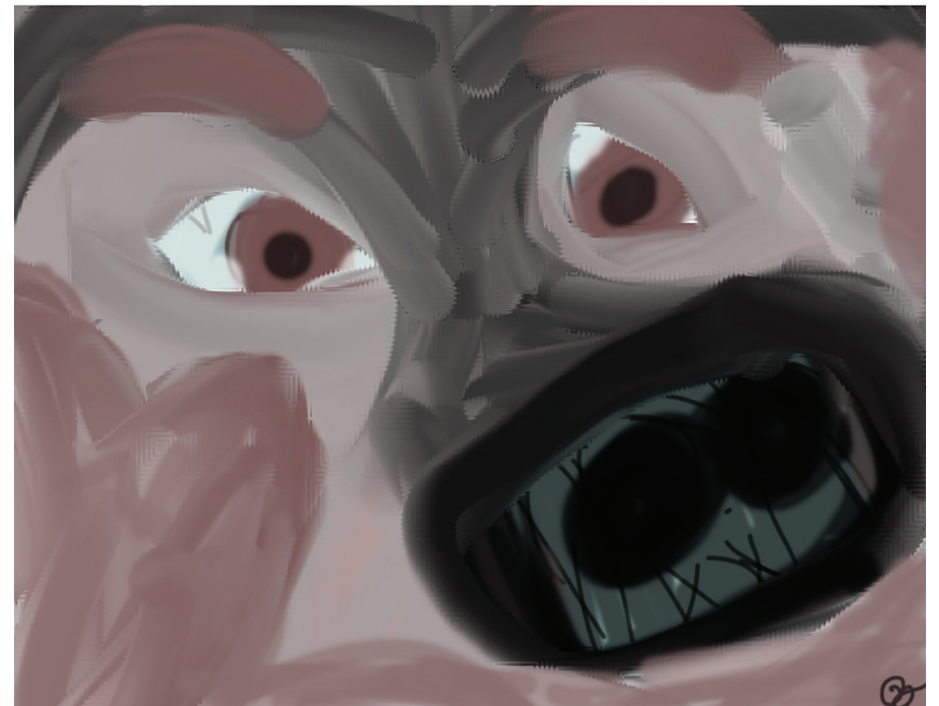

We really have no fear

But one day on a walk

We both see a Coyote and pretend he doesn't see us.

Miranda chose right that day in the August

The family is love and fun and love and fun.

Miranda is 100lbs and takes control

Getting Dad off the couch at her will

Soon Grandma nextdoor

Started giving treats to Miranda everyday

The clock strikes four and she spins like a top

Papa, daddy, Hey you!!!
It's time to go.

Miranda gets a treat everyday
And we chat away

A new luxuray of companionship is shared.

Joanne always says see you tomorrow.

Miranda is here two years now Papa has lost a ton of weight

The strength of Miranda
Is a welcome grace Miranda is now well known But her knub, knub wagging tail says so much more.

So, the next time you see a dog that is sad

With its owner who is not really glad Tell that dog to find you

A new love can happen and life is good

Thank you Miranda for Picking us

We will work hard to make it safe

You give us fun and laughs

So thank you so much for that!

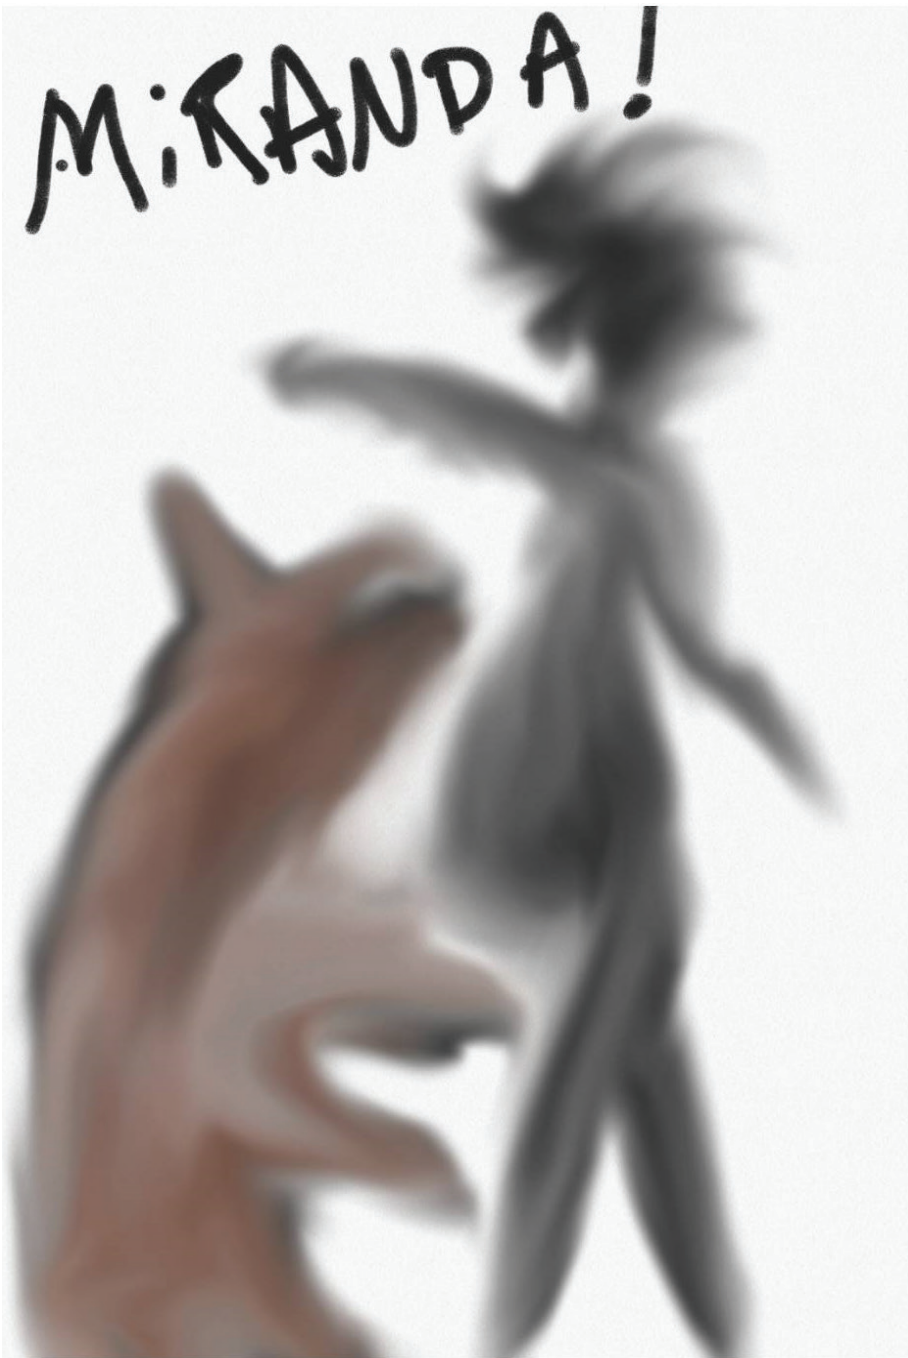

Be nice to all
